Mrs. Truman in Christening Crisis

British Intervene in Syria

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—Britain ordered her commander in the Middle East to intervene in the fighting between French and Syrians today. Prime Minister Churchill called upon Gen. de Gaulle to withdraw French troops to their barracks to prevent further bloodshed in the strategic Levant.

"In order to avoid a collision between British and French, we request you immediately to order French troops to cease fire and to withdraw to their barracks," Churchill told De Gaulle.

British forces have been in Syria since 1941 when they and the Free French knocked out German control.

The action was announced in Commons by Secretary Eden following the third emergency session of the cabinet in 24 hours.

"Once firing has ceased and order has been restored we shall be prepared to begin tripartite discussion here in London," the message to De Gaulle continued.

Eden said the British minister in Damascus had reported a further grave deterioration of the situation in which 300 or more persons already have lost their lives in fighting between the French and Syrians, and that large fires were burning in the capital.

"We have not acted until our overall responsibility was so serious that we simply had to act or stand by and see a situation develop which would have shamed us all," Eden told Commons.

Eden spoke after a French spokesman in Paris had asserted a direct collision between France and Britain was possible.

Eden said Damascus had been bombed and subjected to heavy shellfire after British and U. S. civilians were evacuated.

Eden said an armistice was arranged with French authorities yesterday and British and United States civilian colonies were evacuated from Damascus.

"After that," he added, "the center of the city was subjected to the heaviest and most concentrated shellfire yet directed upon it."

As he reported the ancient city had also been bombed, cries of "shame" echoed through Commons.

"In all the circumstances," he said gravely, "the British government has come to the conclusion that they can no longer stand aside."

Clashes occurred all over the country, and a rebellion of the fierce Druz tribesmen in the southern part of Syria apparently was threatened.

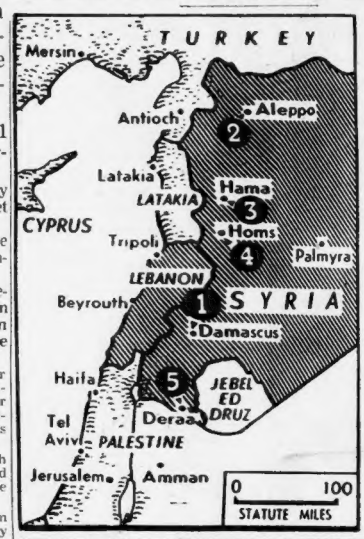
Quiet prevailed in the neighboring state of Lebanon.

The trouble flared Tuesday night when Syrian coascripts bolted from the French forces and the French fired into the crowd which welcomed the fugitives.

Each side accused the other of starting the shooting.

Syria, predominantly Moslem, and Lebanon, predominantly Christian, were mandated to France after the First World War, and were promised their independence when the British and Free French of Gen. de Gaulle upset Vichy rule and a threatened German invasion in 1941.

Their independence was proclaimed in 1943 but negotiations have been complicated by French insistence upon reserving air and naval bases and protection for a French pipeline across the country to the Mosul oil fields. The negotiations were broken off when the French sent troop reinforcements into the Levant.



HEAVY FIGHTING between French and Arab troops is reported in progress around Damascus (1). Fighting, which started at Aleppo (2), has spread to Hama (3) and Homs (4), and has reached Deraa (5), which the Arabs are reported to have captured, taking 500 French prisoners.

U. S. Note Sent France

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The United States has sent a note to France urging it to review its policy toward Syria and Lebanon to facilitate a solution of the controversy there.

Acting Secretary of State Grew said today the note was delivered in Paris last Monday by Ambassador Caffrey.

The text of the note as released by the state department said an impression had been created in this country and elsewhere the French were using the threat of force to obtain concessions.

The note pointed out that Syria and Lebanon are recognized by France and the United States as independent countries and members of the United Nations.

"It is important at the very time when the international security organization is in process of being created at San Francisco," it went on, "that in order to inspire confidence in its future all nations, both great and small, refrain from any act which might give rise to a suspicion—however unjustified—that a member of the future organization may be pursuing a policy not in conformity with the spirit and principles which that organization is being established to defend."

DeGaulle Calls Cabinet in Crisis

PARIS, May 31 (AP)—The London announcement that Britain is intervening in Syria surprised the French government today and officials quarters refused all comment for the time being.

Prime Minister Churchill's message was delivered directly to Gen. De Gaulle, who immediately summoned a number of key ministers for consultation.

Earlier a responsible French source declared the situation held the potentiality of bringing France into direct collision with Britain.

The French no longer hide belief the situation in Lebanon and Syria was "artificially created" and declare if pressed they can produce documentary evidence to prove it.

The Syrian minister to France said he had been in consultation with U. S. Ambassador Caffery and expressed the opinion the crisis could be resolved only through American intervention.

The Syrian minister said he had conferred several times with France's Foreign Minister Bidault, but the situation had gone beyond the diplomatic stage.

The attitude here is that the issues are directly between France and the Levant countries, they are not insoluble and that they have been exaggerated by "other interested parties."

French in U. S. Planes Bombing Arabs

ROME, May 31 (AP)—A delayed dispatch dated May 28 from Casablanca to the Stars and Stripes said today American planes helped transport Moroccan troops from Casablanca to quell Arab disturbances in Algeria during the week following V-E Day.

The dispatch also said French airmen in medium and heavy bombers obtained from the United States, "made more than 300 sorties" over the Algerian hinterland, "leveling entire communities."

"French fighters in British-made aircraft followed up to strafe the fleeing population," the writed added.

He placed the number of Arabs killed or wounded at more than 10,000, between May 8 and 16.

Suicide Planes Lone Jap Hope

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31 (AP)—Japanese Domei News Agency claimed today that Mikado's Kamikaze (suicide) Air Force is inflicting "appalling" losses on the United States fleet off Okinawa island and that the island's land "battle situation" was "stalemated."

Chiang Soong

CHINESE POLITICAL SHIFT—Chiang Kai-shek, who today resigned as premier and was replaced by T. V. Soong, has retained his post as President of China and head of the state. He also retains his rank as Generalissimo. The move is designed towards solidifying China.

Ranking Japanese admirals, Tokyo says, were reassigned to posts where their experience in developing suicide assaults could be employed to the greatest advantage in extending these Kamikaze operations.

The broadcast admitted the Okinawa battle situation is "serious," adding:

"Indications are that enemy pressure on our garrision force will be further increased unless our air operations succeed in completely cutting off the enemy ground forces from supplies from the sea."

The recent shakeup of the Japanese naval high command was designed to prepare all branches of the imperial navy for "special attack (suicide) tactics," a Tokyo radio commentator said.

Bonnet Blames Outside Influence

WASHINGTON, May 31 (INS)—French Ambassador Henri Bonnet declared today the controversy in Syria and Lebanon broke out before the arrival of French reinforcements and is the result of influences for which France is not responsible.

Bonnet talked to reporters at the State Department after a 15-minute interview with Acting Secretary of State Grew.

Bonnet insisted there was no reference to the Syrian controversy in his discussion with Grew today.

"Arab soldiers," Bonnet said, "organized manifestations in Syria, Lebanon and in neighboring countries. Leaders took advantage of the arrival of French troops to stir up disorder."

Ishan Retaken In Chinese Drive

CHUNGKING, May 31 (AP)—Chinese front dispatches today said Chinese forces had recaptured Ishan on the Kwangsi-Kweichow railway 43 miles west of the railhead of Liuchow.

The column had by-passed Pinyang, 60 miles above captured Yungning (Nanning), and reached the vicinity of the strongly fortified Japanese postions at Chienkiang.

Another Chinese column was attacking Pinyang.

Censorship Lifted In European Theater

PARIS, May 31 (INS)—Supreme Headquarters of the Allied Expeditionary Force announced that censorship in the European theater of operations has been discontinued except for matters of major troop movements and other highly important military affairs requiring reference to the supreme commander.

Yanks Drive To Outflank Japs at Shuri

By HAMILTON W. FARON

GUAM, May 31 (AP)—First Division Marines, who yesterday raised the American flag over Shuri castle, pressed a flank attack today against the Jap Shuri town garrison fanatically holding out against two divisions north and east of the ruined city.

Advance patrols of the Fifth Regiment met slight opposition as they drove toward the western flank of the almost encircled enemy.

Knee-deep mud which has slowed the Okinawa campaign for weeks was made more soupy by fresh downpours.

All available 10th Army men not in the front line were set to carrying muntions, water and rations afoot to the fighting fronts.

Company A of the Fifth Regiment under Capt. Julius D. Dusenberry of Charlotte, N. C., first occupied Shuri Castle, medieval fortress which was the home of 16th Century Ryukyu kings.

The invading Leathernecks found only 50 Jap troops, which they killed, and two women and a baby.

One of the first acts of the occupying company was to raise the stars and bars of the American Civil War confederacy, which was the company's victory flag at Peleliu. The American standard was raised approximately 24 hours later.

U. S. Fliers Quit Southeast Asia

CALCUTTA, India, May 31 (AP)—All American aerial units have been withdrawn from the Eastern Air Command in southeast Asia and Maj. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer has relinquished command of the organization which he had headed since it was formed Dec. 15, 1943.

The new destination of the American elements was not announced, but Air Marshal Sir Keith Park said they were being withdrawn "to fight the Japs in another theater."

Yanks Advance In Luzon Drives

MANILA, May 31 (AP)—Yank patrols probed today into the Gagayan valley, last important Jap-held area in the Philippines.

The appearance of American forces in the valley, a narrow lowland area in northern Luzon, was made while 32d and 25th Infantry Division troops cleared up Japs from hills around Santa Fe.

Daughter's Slayer Trapped, Kills Self

KANSAS CITY, May 31 (AP)—Fatally wounded by a bullet from his own gun, Ray E. Davis, 42, died today within two feet of the spot where his attractive 21-year-old daughter, Lula Mae, was shot and killed Tuesday night.

Thomas Davis, deputy coroner, said Davis' death would be recorded as a suicide. Police at first were unable to determine whether Davis killed himself or was shot by police.

Lt. Charles Welch of the homicide bureau said the girl was slain by her father shortly after she had greeted a soldier friend who had been overseas two years.

"It's better this way," sobbed Mrs. Davis when told of the shooting of Davis.

She told police her husband was jealous of anyone who associated with their children, and was particularly bitter toward Pvt. David Sharp, the friend who was calling on Lula Mae at the time she was shot.

Welch and Chester Graham, a patrolman, went to the Davis home this morning on a tip the man, weary of flight, had returned there after two days of wandering through the city.

The officers gave this account:

They went first to the rear of the home, a converted storeroom, and discovered a window partly raised and a screw driver resting on the sill. Believing that indicated Davis' presence, they approached the front door.

With a key obtained from Mrs. Davis, Welch entered. Pointing his pistol toward an open bedroom door, Welch shouted:

"Come on out with your hands up."

Temporarily there was no sound in the bedroom, then a shot broke the silence. Welch and Graham moved toward the door. There was the noise of floundering, then Davis appeared at the door with a gun pointed at Welch.

Welch fired, and Davis fell into the living room.

An examination showed one bullet wound in the chest near the heart and other in the right arm, near the elbow. The latter may have deflected into some part of the body, Welch said, adding he was unable to determine immediately whether it was his own or Davis' bullet that struck in the chest.

Members of the Davis family — a frightened, grief-stricken mother and two other daughters — spent last night at the City Welfare Department and were not at home.

Early this morning, police said, Davis called the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stepp. A sister-in-law who answered said Davis asked where his wife was, if Lula Mae really was dead and when the funeral would be.

The man sobbed, the sister-in-law said, when she told him the girl was dead, and quoted him as saying he was through causing trouble, that he was going to commit suicide and wanted to be buried with Lula Mae.

Welch said that after Lula Mae slumped to the floor, fatally wounded, Davis shouted for Mildred Davis, 19, another daughter, to call an ambulance and hastily wrote a note which said in part:

"The only way to keep her from getting hurt is to kill her, too. I hoped and prayed I wouldn't have to. But I guess this is the way it had to be. I'm not sorry."

Girl Finds Jap Balloon Bomb in Oregon, 6 Killed

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Undersecretary of War Patterson disclosed today a woman and five children were killed by a bomb from one of the long-range Japanese balloons sporadically attacking the western part of this country.

Asked if he had any further information on the balloons, Patterson said he cited the incident of the woman and the children to emphasize the need for precautions.

He said the six were killed in a western state, but gave no names or other details except the tragedy occurred during a fishing trip when one of the children played with an unexploded bomb dropped by one of the unmanned paper balloons.

The deaths occurred at Lake View, Ore., May 5.

They were the first recorded fatalities of World War II within the United States mainland caused by enemy attacks.

The six persons were killed when a small girl disturbed a high explosive bomb which was part of the equipment of a fallen Japanese balloon.

Killed were Mrs. Elsie Mitchell, wife of a Christian Alliance Church pastor, and five children she and her husband took on a fishing trip: Jay Gifford, 12; Eddie Engen, 13; Joan Patzke, 11; Dick Patzke, 13, and Sherman Shoemaker, 12. All were of Bly, Ore.

The Rev. Archie Mitchell, only survivor of the tragedy, told officials here Joan was climbing through the mountains a little distance away from the rest of the party.

"Joan came over and told us that there was a white object nearby," he said. "We went to investigate. It blew up, and killed them all."

Mitchell, who had not reached the fallen balloon as soon as the others, escaped the full violence of the blast. He was not injured.

10,000 Freed GIs Due in Sunday

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Under Secretary of War Patterson said today that an additional 10,000 American soldiers freed from German prison camps would reach the United States by Sunday night.

He told a news conference these arrivals would boost to 37,571 the number of liberated prisoners brought back to this country by ships and airplanes. The number represents, he said, more than one-third of the 90,000 former prisoners of war in Europe who have been returned to American lines, who are in the hands of Allied forces, or in the process of being returned to American control.

Tot's Triumph!

PITTSBURGH, May 31 (AP)—Little George Gregor, 5, today foiled escape by convicts in Western Penintentiary who dug a 32-foot-long tunnel from the prison laundry to a point two feet from the outside surface—and freedom.

Warden Stanley P. Ashe said the boy at play stumbled on crumbling ground and slipped into a hole. He shouted to a guard on the top of the wall.

Boastful Voci Tame Prisoner

Sought widely since his escape from Salem jail with three other prisoners last April 19, Joseph Voci, 17, of Revere, told questioners in the headquarters lineup today he had been living in a lodging house in Tremont st., South End.

JOSEPH VOCI, 17, LYNN
Escaped Convict Nabbed in Hub

Voci was trapped in a parking lot in Hanover st., and arrested without a struggle last night after an innocent youth, mistaken for the escaped prisoner, was shot by Lynn police.

Henry Dancewicz, 22, of Norton st., Lynn, received a flesh wound in the leg when an officer fired a shot at the car in which he and two companions were riding.

Dancewicz, a brother of Frank "Boley" Dancewicz, former Notre Dame grid star, was treated at Lynn General Hospital and later sent home with the profuse apologies of police for the error. He and his two companions were absolved from any connection with Voci.

Shortly before the shooting Voci was suspected of stealing a car in Chelsea, abandoning it in East Boston and then heading for Charlestown.

Later, Patrolman John F. McCarthy saw two youths looking over cars in the Hanover st. parking space. He stepped in quickly between two cars and trapped Voci with the wall of the parking area at his back and no chance for escape. He gave up without a fight.

At Station 1, Voci boasted of his outspeeding police of three cities since his jail escape. In his pockets were found news clippings of his escaping arrest in a chase by Revere and East Boston police.

Boyle Cleared In Gang Slaying

Judge Samuel Eisenstadt found no probable cause today to hold John Boyle, 40, of Brush Hill rd., Milton, in Roxbury court on a charge of murder in connection with the 1941 gangland slaying of Joseph T. "Harpo" Mahoney.

The case had been continued until today after Sgt. Arthur Tiernan informed the court police had new evidence.

Boyle, accompanied by his counsel, former Lt. Gov. Francis E. Kelly, surrendered at Dudley st. station May 21 after he had been sought since Dec. 23, 1941.

Point Value Increased On Spinach, Tomatoes

By EARLE MARCKRES

WASHINGTON, May 31 (INS)—The Office of Price Administration today announced point value increases for canned spinach and tomatoes amid the prospect of a seven per cent cut in weekly meat supplies in June.

Point values for tomato and vegetable juice combinations will be reduced for the new ration period beginning next Sunday. No other changes will be made for other processed foods. The new values are:

Spinach—No. 2 can, 20 points, up 10 points; No. 2½ can, 30 points, up 10 points; Tomatoes—No. 2 can, 40 points, up 10.

Tomato Juice—No. 2 can, 10 points for two cans (single containers are still 10 points); 46-ounce, 10 points, down 10. Vegetable juice—18-ounce, 10 points for two cans (single containers, 10 points); 46-ounce, 10 points, down 10.

Point value for most meats, fats and oils will remain unchanged during the June 3 to 30 ration period, OPA said, but some fat cuts of pork will be increased.

OPA estimated that the average weekly supply of meat at retail levels will be 201,010,000 pounds in June, compared with 214,320,000 in May.

Ration values for most pork cuts, beef, veal, lamb and mutton and all kosher meat remain at present levels.

Fatbacks, or "pot likker" meat, and plate bacon will be increased three points to eight points a pound. Pork sides, aged and dry-cured, were increased one point to nine points a pound.

Lard, shortening, salad and cooking oils will remain at 10 points, margarine at 12 points, and creamery butter at 24 points a pound.

Point values for soft perishable types of cheese are reduced from eight to six points to step up the movement of supplies during the hot weather.

Home Canning Sugar Curbed

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Acting to stem continuing over-issuance of sugar, OPA has authorized its regional offices to halt temporarily granting of ration certificates for home canning.

Regional directors may call a halt in any area where there is evidence ration grants are exceeding quotas, the suspension to remain in effect until the regional supply picture is being re-surveyed.

First reported use of the new authority was in OPA's Chicago region.

OPA has cut the table use ration to five pounds every four months and has trimmed the home canning allotment to a maximum of 15 pounds per person

Boston Wants To Fete Patton

With Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., leader of the American Third Army, returning to the United States in a few days, Mayor Kerrigan urged Congressman John W. McCormack today to obtain War Department approval of plans to give the general a civic welcome in Boston.

The mayor pointed out many Boston boys served with Patton in the African, Sicilian and European campaigns and their families were anxious to see him.

Courts-Martial Probe Urged

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The House Military Committee called today for an Army explanation of some of its courts-martial sentences and discharges.

Rep. Thomason (D.) of Texas, ranking majority member, said representatives of the adjutant-general's office have been asked to appear tomorrow.

Asserting that some soldiers and airmen have been given discharges without honor, apparently after suffering nerve exhaustion from combat experiences, Thomason said he wants a complete explanation of War Department policies in such matters.

Villagers complained soldiers' packages were, on his orders, burned by German prisoners of war.

Jernigin said "only spoiled food and items damaged beyond use were burned."

Thousands View Patriotic Duck

MILWAUKEE, May 31 (AP)—Five hatched and one still to go was the latest report today from a rotted bridge piling in downtown Milwaukee where a mother duck picked Memorial Day to introduce her first offspring.

The Mallard, whose nest has been viewed by tens of thousands for a month, still publicity-wise and patriotic, waited until a Memorial Day parade had passed before hatching her first egg.

Thousands turned from the parade to the bridge railing overlooking the nest. Broadcasts of blessed event(s) brought additional thousands to the scene.

VATICAN CITY, May 31 (INS)—Kurt Schuschnigg, former chancellor of Austria liberated from Nazi custody by American forces, had a 40-minute audience today with Pope Pius XII.

Schuschnigg has been resting on the Isle of Capri since his liberation.

Reconversion May Ease Food Shortage

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—War production cutbacks and reconversion may help ease the food supply strain.

Agriculture department economists say reductions in military output now taking place should tend to reduce consumer incomes and smaller consumer buying power should be reflected, they add, in a somewhat reduced demand for food.

Consumption and demand for food during the war have been at record levels largely because of two facts: (1) civilians had more buying power than ever before, and (2) they tended to concentrate their buying in food markets because such items as automobiles, radios, refrigerators and the like were not available.

Commissary 'Favors' Probed

By MARTHA KEARNEY

WASHINGTON, May 31 (INS)—The War Department today promised an early explanation of the special food privileges enjoyed at Army commissaries by families of soldiers serving on the home front.

Bitter protests are made against the reportedly plentiful stocks of premium-grade steak, chops, ham, roasts and other meat made available at cut rates to families of non-combat soldiers.

It is reported by eyewitnesses that commmissary meat counters are loaded down with prime-grade meats despite the current famine.

'Haw Haw' to Fly To London Trial

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—William Joyce, the notorious Lord Haw Haw of the Berlin radio, will be brought to England by plane today or tomorrow in custody of military guards and Scotland Yard men.

Joyce, American-born Britisher who served as radio propagandist for the Nazis, and Norman Baillie-Steward, former British army officer who also broadcast for the enemy, will be treated as civilian prisoners and will be arraigned in London's Bow Street Court. They will be lodged in Brixton prison.

There was speculation here that both might claim German naturalization. If they succeeded in this, they would have to be dealt with as war criminals.

Bus Union Gets WLB Warning

Warning union leaders that the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. will be barred from making any agreements in the event of a walkout, Chairman Saul Wallen of the regional War Labor Board, today urged the workers to live up to their no-strike pledge.

The full board of the WLB met with union and company officials today in a last-minute attempt to avert a strike scheduled for Saturday by 1800 employes to enforce demands for wage increases, shorter hours and pension adjustments.

By a unanimous vote the board instructed both parties that the present contract should remain in effect until a settlement is reached.

"In the event the union follows through with this threat, the public members of the WLB will propose that the board bar the company from making agreements with, or any concessions to, the union while the men are idle," Wallan said.

"The workers have a definite war responsibility to transport war workers to their vital jobs and neither the public nor the board will have sympathetic attitudes toward the demands if the men strike first to achieve benefits in violation of their no-strike pledge."

Wallen told reporters he would confer with Gov. Tobin later today to arrange emergency transportation for thousands of war workers who will be stranded if conciliation efforts fail.

Joseph Shea, business manager of the Amalgamated Ass'n. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Operators, declared:

"Our membership has seen John L. Lewis go out and defy the WLB and come out on top and we're only small fry here.

"I will counsel the men not to strike but if they do, I will still be with them because we do not give orders to them and I will not desert a ship in a storm."

Mark Sullivan, president of the Fall River local, said the no-strike pledge had not been ratified by the membership for three years "and therefore it couldn't speak for us."

Chairman Arthur G. Wadleigh of the Eastern Massachusetts public trustees, said the company was willing to have the dispute arbitrated by the WLB or the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration. He also offered to submit the issues to private arbitration.

Wadleigh asked the existing contract, which expires at midnight, June 1, be extended until the dispute can be settled.

After Wallen pleaded for the union to keep the no-strike pledge, the union leaders asked for a recess and adjourned to a separate room to discuss the proposals.

Bombed Ship At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, May 31 (INS)—Battered but unbeaten, the destroyer USS Zellars, victim of a mass Jap air raid off Okinawa, today steamed proudly into Los Angeles harbor for repairs which will send her back into battle.

The Zellars, with other units of the Pacific fleet, was attacked by four of a fleet of 125 Jap planes off Okinawa April 12, and suffered a hit by an 110-pound torpedo and a suicide crash by the plane which launched the deadly "fish."

Of its crew of approximately 350 officers and men, the Zellars lost 40 killed, two missing and 45 wounded.

Vets View Hearst Boston Plant

By JAMES F. McENANEY
Veterans' Friend Editor

More than 100 wounded soldiers from Camp Edwards were guests of the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser on an educational tour through the plant of these newspapers.

The group, all of whom have seen plenty of action in either the European or Pacific theaters of operation, are taking courses in salesmanship and also advertising while convalescing at Camp Edwards Hospital. They had expresed a desire to visit the Record-American.

Under direction of Sgt. Leslie Browning and T5 James Joy, instructors at camp classes, the wounded vets were brought to Boston in two big Army buses.

Arriving in the editorial rooms of the Boston Hearst newspapers, the visitors were greeted by this writer and Austen Lake, noted war correspondent and columnist for the Boston American.

The wounded men poured their congratulations upon Lake for the "swell job on the McGee story and getting the kid sprung."

Lake told of his trips to the various fronts in the European theater. Many of those present wore the insignias of outfits to which Austen had been attached.

He urged the boys, when discharged, to join one organization and not to split up into six or seven groups.

"Unite after this war is over and have one strong organization," he said, "then you will be able to accomplish progressive legislation in the interests of your former comrades."

Asked by one of the vets if he thought it best if World War II veterans form their own organization, Lake replied that would be a question they must decide themselves.

Divided into groups, a tour was made through the entire building visiting all departments where detailed explanations of the various processes in publishing a newspaper were explained.

The visitors were given the unique opportunity of watching the news coming in over the various wire services to the City Desk and News Editor, and following it through to the press room where they witnessed the huge high-speed presses turning out thousands of papers at a breathtaking clip.

Following the two-hour visit all were given a "break" for a few hours around the city and they then returned to Camp Edwards.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Does a discharged commissioned officer who was a deserter, and forced to resign for the good of the service, lose his G. I. rights? M. P., Taunton.

A—Yes, unless a review board decides that the veteran was insane at the time the offense which resulted in his discharge was committed. If the board decides in his favor, even a dishonorable discharge will not preclude him from receiving G. I. benefits.

Q—I am the wife of a disabled veteran, unable to work. I would like to take a civil service examination scheduled to be held within a month. Will I be granted any preference in behalf of my husband who would be ineligible for appointment? S. W., Winthrop.

A—Yes. When a veteran entitled to disability reference is unable to accept because of the disability on which preference is based in Federal Civil Service exams, his wife, if she is qualified, may be granted the preference instead.

Q—I am planning to take a college course for two years under the G. I. Bill. The school is located in the Middle West. Does the government pay the travel expenses? T. O., Quincy.

A—The government pays no travel expense incurred in connection with the G. I. Bill.

Q—Are members of the Merchant Marine eligible for benefits under the so-called G. I. Bill? How about former Seabees?
G. D., Lowell.

A—The answer to the first part of your question is no because they are not members of the armed forces. Seabees are eligible because they were in the U. S. Navy.

Q—What is the interest rate on loans that the Veterans Administration guarantee. I have been told that the $2000 govt. note is 4 per cent and bank or lending agency can charge higher rates on the balance.
K. L., Manchester, N. H.

A—The bill specifically states that it will guarantee no principal loan unless the interest rate is 4 per cent or less, and that such a loan must be repaid in not more than 20 years. If a second loan is necessary and does not exceed the 20 per cent of the purchase price the interest rate shall not exceed that on the principal loan by more than one per cent.

Q—What are the payments for a disabled veteran who is taking vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 16? J. McD., Somerville.

A—During training, if the pension be received in less than $92 per month, it will be increased to $92 per month if you are single; $103.50 if married, with an added allowance of $5.75 a month for each child and $11.50 for each dependent parent.

Q—Under the unemployment clause of the G. I. bill is a veteran receiving financial aid from some other government agency entitled to the $20 weekly if unable to gain employment? M. E., East Cambridge.

A—The $20-a-week allowance will be reduced by any state or federal unemployment or disability allowance or benefit payable under employees compensation laws. However, the readjustment allowance is NOT affected by a pension, compensation, or retired pay paid by the Veterans Administration for the same period of time.

Q—Is out-patient treatment available to an honorably discharged veteran who is suffering from a non-service connected injury? R. E. W., Fall River.

A—Sorry, but the answer is no.

Q—Before being discharged in September, 1943, I signed a paper that my disability existed prior to my induction. Does that prevent me from filing application for an injury which I can prove was caused from service in the Army. K. R., Brookline.

A—The paper you signed at time of discharge is now considered null and void and of no force or effect. May file claim application.

YOU A MILLIONAIRE?

Syria Fight Tests Conference Power

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31 (AP)—Bloody fighting in Syria put to its severest test today the good neighbor policy on which the United Nations are seeking to erect a new world league to keep peace.

Topping off Iran's demand for withdrawal of Allied troops and the prolonged Big-Three dispute over Poland, the outbreak in the Levant aroused new apprehensions of many delegations here over the ability of the big powers to work out their world interests in a friendly and unselfish manner.

American officials, however, are telling these small nation representatives that had the projected world organization already been in existence such problems probably would have been more easily and speedily solved.

Secretary of State Stettinius threw his influence against letting any current issues interfere with the work of the conference.

Officials appeared certain that he would succeed and the league charter would be produced early in June.

Feted on Birthday

By BETTY ALDEN

A CORSAGE of orchids from her husband overseas was the most treasured birthday gift received by attractive Mrs. Robert Anslow (Marjorie Emerson), who celebrated the occasion at a dinner party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Emerson of Arlington st., in the Copley Plaza Oval Room.

The pretty guest of honor sported her purple throated orchids on a striking gown of magenta crepe with sequin trimmed bolero. Her mother was very regal in a black slipper satin dinner gown with black lace cutting the one shoulder neckline.

Sarah Foster

Helping to pin on the orchids on his sister's chic was Robert G. Emerson Jr. while Mrs. Willard Emery (Betty Mott) put orchids on her slim black and white lace, William Ferris, Lt. Ross McKeever, USNR, and Thomas Johnston.

Dancing with a handsome Navy officer, Barsha Powers Shattuck was lovely in an emerald green silk suit. Debutante Connie Heller chose sophisticated black for her Oval Room date, and post deb Wendy Lou Gray was fetching in a black dirndl printed with large yellow daisies.

Living Costs Skyrocket In London Spending Orgy

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, May 31 (INS)—Inflation in all but name has sent costs of living in London skyrocketing.

The four-dollar wartime pound sterling is worth about a dollar in real purchasing power.

Money is plentiful. Commodities and luxuries are short. The black market flourishes.

Severe measures will have to be taken to woo the population from the "spend money as fast as you get it" complex.

There's virtually nothing left that isn't 100 per cent or more up in price. The only bargain is in civilian steel helmets. They retail at 60 cents apiece—and no takers.

Bars seldom have whisky these days, and when they do it is 50 cents a "nip." Whisky, "officially" retailing at a little over $5 a bottle, double the pre-war price, is black-marketed at $10 to $25 a bottle.

A very ordinary suiting, half cotton, would have cost perhaps $25 pre-war, ready made. Today its $110, and the tailor can't deliver until early next year.

A woman's suit costs $100 or more, women's hats $50, shoes $30, pocketbooks $60, lingerie $40 to $50.

Jewelry fetches fantastic prices. Diamonds retail at more than $450 a carat.

The one thing that has remained constant is income tax—$2 in every four earned.

Whoosh!

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, May 31 (AP)—Sailor Russell Hayden, on board an aircraft carrier, wrote friends here he received a letter from his brother, Ben Lynn Hayden, a sailor on another ship in the Pacific.

"I seated myself in a cool, shady supot," Russell wrote, "and anticipated enjoying the letter. I opened it and proceeded:

"'Dear Russ—' Whoosh! A gust of wind and over the side goes the letter."

A GOOD MAN IN RIGHT PLACE

THE TYPICAL COMMENT in Washington and throughout the nation regarding the appointment of Thomas Campnell Clark of Texas as Attorney General reflects the opinion that "he is the best man the President could have picked."

This is a fine tribute to Mr. Clark, and to President Truman as well.

The putting of good men in the right places in government is indispensable to good government, and thus a basic rule which should always be followed by those having the power of appointment in a democracy.

Unfortunately, it is a rule too often observed in the breach and too rarely in performance.

Probably this is the reason the President's appointment of Mr. Clark has been accounted a "surprise" in some quarters.

President Truman's quest for "the best man he could pick" went no farther than the Justice Department itself, where Mr. Clark had been an Assistant U. S. Attorney General for eight years and had distinguished himself in a manner to impress many people having a greater interest in good government than in smart politics.

As Mr. Truman had an opportunity to learn, during the years he headed the Senate committee charged with investigation of war expenditures, there was one man in the Justice Department who could always be relied upon for capable assistance to Congress—and it was Tom Clark.

Moreover, when he was confronted with the necessity of appointing a new Attorney General, Mr. Truman did not fail to remember that it was Assistant Attorney General Tom Clark who was chief civilian adviser to Gen. John DeWitt during the critical and perilous weeks of the Japanese evacuation on the Pacific Coast—and that Clark's judicious handling of the tangled legal problems attending that vital enterprise contributed materially to the safeguards the Pacific Coast acquired early in the war as a result of the evacuation.

President Truman is to be commended for an appointment so plainly and soundly made according to the logical test of known ability, rather than according to the more familiar test of opportunistic politics.

MUCH TO DO

ALTHOUGH the Federal Government expects 1,900,000 persons in other sections of the country to lose their employment within the next few months, its spokesmen are confident that there will be little idleness in Boston and the 40 surrounding cities and towns.

This is probably true. We do not have the conversion problems which confront and confound the newer industrial areas. Our working population is highly skilled. And our manufacturing activities are widely diversified.

But we cannot afford to sit back smugly and let the future take care of itself.

We must have an airport capable of serving the great transport planes already under construction.

We must reconstruct our outmoded seaport and permit world trade to come in.

We must break all the transportation bottlenecks which are obstructing commerce and jeopardizing jobs.

We must avoid confiscatory legislation, of which the proposal to increase the income tax is a notorious example.

We must induce municipal, county and State governments to eliminate boondoggling, waste and extravagance and thus ease the excessive tax burden on real estate.

We shall thrive industrially only so long as we make Greater Boston attractive to manufacturers.

If we fail to do this, we can blame ourselves if mills and factories move to other parts of the country, leaving stagnation and depression in their wake.

On the Side By E. V. Durling

(Distributed by King Features Synd. Inc.)

To you, Dear Mom, on this your special day,
I send my love, a love that's deep and true.
The miles between us are no barrier.
Instead, they seem to bring me close to you.
There's only one day set aside for you,
Try as I might, I never could see why.
For every day to me is Mother's Day,
And always will be 'til the day I die.

(Above inscribed on card sent to his mother on Mother's Day by Sgt. Marvin B. Hayes, now stationed in China.)

THREE SMART GIRLS, all married, have offered to be of assistance to our Horses & Women Department. From time to time they will contribute inside information on the handling of women. I think their contributions will prove invaluable to discerning and intelligent men. Their first suggestion is that husbands keep in mind the value of the "tender moments." A "tender moment" they explain, is that time when a husband takes his wife in his arms, gives her a hug and a kiss and says: "Darling, you're wonderful!" According to our advisors, a husband who never forgets the "tender moments" and spaces them properly will always have a contented wife.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Interviewing prisoners of war at Aachen, Germany, a U. S. officer asked a Nazi sergeant his age. "I am 11 years old," said the Nazi. Asked how he happened to be in the army at the age of 11, the German replied: I lied about my age. I told the recruiting officer I was 12." If you can name what year the following films were being shown, you can call yourself a young old-timer: Hazards of Helen" (railroad serial), Hazel Dawn in "One of our Girls," "Exploits of Elaine" (serial), Charles Chaplin in "The Champion," Lillian Dimples" Walker in "Breaking In."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—So you say redheads are the fastest thinkers. Nearly all the great gunmen of the Old West were blonde. They were great because their fast thinking made them quick on the draw. How about it? A—I was referring to red-haired women. Still, red-haired men are fast thinkers, too. Bob Fitzsimmons, the heavyweight boxer, for example. Q—What does "Bugs" Baer mean by referring to you as "Grandpa" Durling? A—Oh, he's just jealous because I have enough hair to require a haircut once a week. "Bugs" was the dean of baseball scribes in Washington when the outfielders wore whiskers and the catcher didn't come up to the plate until the third strike. When he was a boy he received honorable mention in the Washington Herald for being the first lad on his block to yell "There he goes!" when John Wilkes Booth ran down the street after shooting Lincoln.

WRITES A CHICAGOAN: "My boy friend is a tall, dark and handsome paratrooper. When home on leave he was continually subjected to the Leap Year treatment by local girls. They begged him for dates, gave him presents and generally made fools of themselves. This town is packed with man-crazy females. That sergeant who said girls were proposing marriage to him after he had known them a couple of hours was not lying, in my opinion. That could happen in Chicago."

★ ★ ★

CHILDREN, ETC.: "So it is claimed when those who have been the only child are married they usually raise large families," writes a Chicagoan. "I was an only child. Have been married five years and already have three children. So it looks like a large family for me. But how about this? My husband was one of 11 children." (Note: The claim is that when a woman has been an only child she will usually become the mother of a number of children. Nothing is claimed as to husbands who have been only sons. Anyway, who decides whether there will be a lot of children in the family, the Mama or the Papa?)

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, May 31—It didn't seem possible to me that, after all this time, any boss unioneer would have the effrontery to tell an audience that the so-called Wagner Act did not force people to join unions because for years now, most of them haven't bothered to deny that it does but have insisted, instead, that this is all right.

Westbrook Pegler

But the other afternoon there comes over the air a Clyde-side burr, doing one of those question-and-answer acts in which the trainer throws the sea lion a fish and the orator of the occasion then smacks his flippers together and barks and carries on with long-winded answers out of the book.

And who is it but Johnny Green, of the CIO Shipbuilders, arguing against himself.

Johnny Green is one of them that I have never met personally, but it was only a year or so ago that a good-looking little number engaged in the press agent business and hired to do a job for his union called on me to explain what a dirty trick the U. S. government had played on him and his by giving an exclusive, closed shop contract to the Boilermakers' Union of the AFL for all the jobs in Henry Kaiser's West Coast shipyards.

Not only was Green naving routine Communist trouble in his organization, but those communists were beating the ears off him for letting the A. F. of L. round up several hundred thousand men in the big western yards who had had to join the Boilermakers to get jobs and now had to keep in good standing to hold the jobs.

THE REVENUE was something on the colossal side, a fact of special poignancy to a unioneer coming, as Johnny Greeen does, from Glasgow, for the workers, mainly unskilled hands from the Dust Bowl and sheepers drawn from their flocks in Montana, not only had to pay stiff dues, but, under the contract approved by the government, also had to buy life insurance through the Boilermakers.

This insurance paid a tremendous sum to a fellow named Franklin, the son of the president of the Boilermakers, which, in a CIO union, might have been applied to some worthier purpose, such as the PAC or Russian Relief, and the young publicity girl was moaning low over the foul injustice of it all.

In the course of the inquiry I called on old Henry, himself, at his New York office which, in a way, reminds me of some of the earlier speakeasies because it is a sort of hide-away without letters on the door, and Henry confirmed all.

But, hell's bells, Henry had only wanted to slap steamboats together in great haste and numbers and it hadn't bothered him which union got the contract as long as he could do business with some outfit which would deliver workers to him in the enormous numbers, take responsibilty for their conduct, see that they didn't strike and agree with him on the rates of pay.

The workers were not consulted. They weren't even human beings in the sense of individuality but just labor in the collective sense.

★ ★ ★

JOHNNY GREEN, however, was in a peculiar situation. His was a new union and the Boilermakers is a very old one and used to be a labor organization run for the welfare and protection of the members who also built our ships in the old days.

The bosses of the West Coast boilermakers had seen the opportunity and moved in quickly and old Henry, not wanting any mess or shortage of hands, had given them a contract at a time when actually only a skeleton force was employed.

This contract, however, contemplated compulsory membership for countless and, as yet, unseen migrants from the inland and, as Johnny Green was now contending, they were written or dragooned into the Boilermakers before they ever thought of going to the Pacific Coast.

And now that the boom was on, Johnny was howling for a Labor Board election and democracy and the Four Freedoms.

But he never got anywhere and even if we agree with him that, by this time, the majority wanted to quit the union of the A. F. of L. and come over to the CIO, we have to agree with him also that the Wagner Act, under which this exclusive contract was made, held them captive and had been the means of herding them into the A. F. of L. in the first place.

I offer these reminiscent observations for their value as information about the background of those who get on the air with scenarios intended to convince you that something isn't so that they were bitterly proclaiming to be a ghastly fact only yesterday.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 31—A happy, healthy man today is Louis B. Mayer, who has had a terrific run of bad luck. First with his broken pelvis and then with a fractured leg.

Now L. B. has been pronounced physically fit by his New York doctor. Both casts have been removed and he is back at M-G-M on his regular schedule-working-man's hours, I might add.

Bill Powell

When I talked with him he told me the first thing he did was to sign William Powell on a new seven-year contract. Powell, who has had his run of bad health, can sympathize with and congratulate L. B.

After Bill finishes "Hoodlum Saint," he will be starred in "Gentleman's Gentleman," a hilarious comedy in which Powell plays the valet. Bill is one of the few actors who can play either comedy or drama with equal facility.

BOGEY MAY be tough on the screen but he's a softy where Baby is concerned and doesn't care who knows it. Of course, I'm referring to the newlyweds, more formally known as Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Bogart. They are "at home" these days in a little $40,000 nest which Bogey wasn't crazy about—but the bride liked it. So it's home sweet home now.

I think if Bogey followed his heart he would like to have Lauren in all his pictures, too. But he's a smart guy, both where his career and hers are concerned, and I doubt very much if she will be in "Task Force," his next for Jerry Wald.

It's a story of naval aviation with Bogart playing a role based on a character not unlike Admiral Marc Mitscher—and the girl's role isn't too important.

THERE'S BEEN a little horse-swapping going on between RKO and Republic—if you can call a $50,000 deal by such a corny term. RKO had Borden Chase's story, "That Man Malone," all set to go, with John Wayne in the star spot, when Republic put in a bid to buy the property for the very fancy figure quoted above. An odd angle is that John Wayne is still in the top role—and just moves his makeup kit from RKO over to the valley.

Saw Jo Wayne, his ex, dining at La Rue the other night and she looked stunning—pretty enough to be in the movies herself.

THERE'S REJOICING at the home of Director Henry King. Their son, Henry, is safe, according to word from the War Department. Mrs. King (Gypsy) has been simply wonderful through the whole thing, never losing faith for a moment that her boy would be back.

He was in a German prison—that she knew. But after Germany fell there still wasn't any word from him until a few days ago.

When I mentioned on the air that he was missing, a mother down South wrote to the Kings and enclosed a snapshot of Henry, Jr., and her boy taken together. It was through her that the Kings learned that their boy was in a German prison. Maureen O'Sullivan, too, received word that her brother is safe.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Van Johnson and Keenan Wynn visit a phonograph shop in West Los Angeles where a very pretty girl sells the records. She has never given Van the time of day, and apparently her indifference intrigued him, after the rush all the bobby-sockers hand him.

So he asked to take her out to dinner and she accepted. Here's the interesting part. Her name is Connie Donahue, and she is the daughter of the late Jack Donahue, famed Ziegfeld dancer, and Marilyn Miller's partner. His widow and three daughters live here. I am not saying it's a romance with Van and Connie just a friendship.

THE CRUELEST and most malicious gossip ever printed is the reported break-up of Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon—cruel because Bebe's and Ben's two children, Barbara Bebe and Richard are here, miles away from their parents. Bebe's mother, too, is here, unable to pick up the telephone and talk to her daughter.

Today I received a cable from Bebe and Ben asking me please to say there is not one word of truth in any divorce rumor. I don't believe there ever has been a divorce rumor about these two people who adore each other, and whose devotion is so well known to their friends and admirers, both in London and America.

Bebe and Ben will arrive in Hollywood in three weeks, and together, as always, only when they were separated by the war as hundreds of thousands of other husbands and wives have been separated.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Lou Costello will get out his company clothes to act as best man when his Brother Pat marries Marty Kurtz on June 6. Jim Brousser writes from Rio that she knows why they call the view in front of her hotel the "String of Pearls"—it is so beautiful. She's been there for a month and they want her to stay longer; Xavier Cugat writes his friends that he and his girl friend of long standing, Ann Marsh, are visiting a preacher on July 4; Faye Emerson and Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt have reserved a table for 12 for the Ann Lehr Hollywood Guild Canteen benefit, June 7. The place is Bob Dalton's new restaurant and everybody will want to help Ann, who's done so much marvelous work for our boys.

WELL, I CAN'T say I blame Bette Jane Greer for changing her name legally to Jane. Joan Carroll leaves this week-end to visit her brother James, who is studying to become a Jesuit priest at Los Gatos; Marguerite Chapman and John Carroll has discovered each other after all this time; Charles Laughton has been painted in oils by Fletcher Martin, in his Capt. Kidd character; Phil Ellmen and Bob Orr dining quietly at Romanoff's after a day in conference with Jim Andrews on the new Old Gold program. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, May 31—When it comes to honoring the war prophets who made good, I feel we must exclude the party who wrote that stirring song

"There'll Be a Hot Time in the Town of Berlin When the Yanks Go Marching In"

Sen. Wheeler

Our Russian allies seem to have knocked this piece of musical prophecy on the head. They won't even allow Sen. Wheeler of Montana to go marching in—so probably the only hot time will be when Sen. Wheeler comes back here and explodes!

* * *

THIS ACTUALLY took place outside the House aviation hearing the other day. Jerry Dobbin, who writes for an aviation magazine, was accosted by a reporter who asked if he would give him a fall-in on the proceedings. Mr. Dobbin obligingly complied. Then the reporter extended his hand and said:

"My name's Holstein. What's yours?"

Dobbin was afraid to tell him.

SOME DAYS AGO, in the interests of constructive journalism, I reported that the members of our little organization had been engaging in a very educational pastime called "Giddy Giddy Gout, Your Shirttail's Out."

One of my principal reasons printing this was that I thought it might serve as a guide to health and happiness. The game is energetic and healthful and calls for fine co-ordination of mind and muscle. It serves to keep you on your toes as it were, great dexterity being a prime factor.

It appears, however, that I may have been carried away by my own enthusiasm. It seems that certain members of Congress, whom I will refrain from identifying, failed to appreciate that this game should be carried on only in the privacy of an office or sanctum. It is not designed as a spectators' game.

Mrs. Janet Green, of our office, reports she discovered the truth of this on subsequent reportorial rounds of Capitol Hill. Adds Mrs. Green:

"The day after your splendidly-literary article appeared, I journeyed as usual to the halls of Congress. I had gone only a short distance through the solemn corridors however, when I felt a quick tug and realized all was not as it should be. I whirled around to find one of our most serious-minded lawmakers grinning at me like a tickled ape.

"When I demanded to know the reason for the outrage, he said:

"'Why, I'm only playing your favorite game — giddy giddy gout, your shirttail's out!"

"I tried to explain to him that it was an esoteric pastime, not given to the many, but he only grinned more.

"All day long, I got more of the same thing. I am sure it would astound the customers no end if we identified the would-be game-players, but I guess we'd better not because we have to continue doing business up there.

"All I've got to say is that I think you would be well-advised to keep our office pastimes confidential in the future. They are definitely not suited for the halls of Congress.

"I have always worn suits—feeling them to be both practical and dignified for a conservative working gal. I have naturally avoided sweaters, wearing trim little shirtwaists. Is it my fault if the WPB is so stingy with material that my shirttail makes me an easy victim for the game?

"As a result of your disclosure, I have been forced to put all my suits away in moth balls and resort to one-piece gingham frocks. Is this cricket?"

I don't know, Mrs. Green. I never played cricket.

Boston After Dark

EXCLUSIVE: The United States Navy will become a peacetime force of 5,000,000 officers and enlisted men . . . President Truman will act shortly to set the machinery in motion to accomplish this end . . . Men under 20—with 17- and 18-year-olds preferred—will be the most-sought recruits, but Americans in good physical health and of considerable more maturity will be enlisted for various specialties.

* * *

INCREASING the Navy's strength by 1,500,000 is regarded as a major task as the United States becomes increasingly 'peace-minded" . . . It will require the continuation of high-pressure recruiting throughout the country. Washington believes . . . Within 60 days, the U. S. Army will place an age-ceiling of 26 years on draftees (as we predicted in this space many weeks ago) . . . But no one in the Capital is willing to predict that candidates for induction who are older than 26 will be shunted over en masse to the Navy . . . No one in the Capital, for that matter, will be ready to contirm this highly significant story of a much-enlarged U. S. Navy . . . When the story does "break," however, you might recall that you read it here first.

EXCLUSIVE: A leading midwest hotel "chain" has hit upon Copley Square as the site for its newest, and most modern, unit . . . The "chain" specializes in rooms and apartments for men, at very moderate prices and after the policy of the old Allerton Houses in New York . . . The Boston Hotel Men's Ass'n should be interested vitally in the invasion of the midwesterners . . . In some cities where the policy has been successful, rooms are rented as cheaply as $1.50 a night.

HOME-COMING VETERANS are being entertained by fond friends and relatives these days in a manner reminiscent of the days of early '42 and the year of '43 when every other party in a nightclub or hotel room was a "going-away party."

WITH FOOD-PRICES soaring in spite of the OPA's best efforts, some established Boston hotels are finding it difficult now, regardless of the so-called "boom", to show an operating profit in food . . . And with the labor situation growing worse (if possible) it is a major task to staff certain of our good hostelries with enough chambermaids, clerks, bellhops, and porters to function adequately . . . These and other war-borne difficulties are to be the basis for a request to the OPA for a relaxation of ceiling prices on rooms.

WASHINGTON'S famous white horse, Lexington, subject of a full-page in one of the major encyclopedias, and as famous in history as the Lone Ranger's good horse "Silver" in current radio, is shown in a foyer mural of Boston's finest and newest insurance building as a black horse . . . And the painting isn't the work of a WPA artist . . . Mike Todd bears the "equivalent" credentials of a "brigadier general" while at work for the Government' on a re-educational project in devastated Europe.

* * *

THE FACT about Mitzi Green's reaction to a "rib" staged at The Mayfair, in which School Committee Chairman Michael J. Ward re-enacted his famous impersonation of a mythical British nobleman (Sir Michael Esme) is that Mitzi and her mother, Rosie, were more amused at being "taken" than the ribbers were in spoofing them . . . The "rib" went on for hours, with Mike inviting Mitzi's mother to be his guest in an "Embassy bomber" for an overnight trip to San Francisco to meet "Lady Esme."

WHEN "WAR GLENN" was disqualified in Tuesday's last race, the books were saved many thousands of dollars . . . In Providence, the books were refusing "play" on the horse, which came up the hottest thing of the 'Gansett meeting . . . Things even up, seemingly, in the gambling profession . . . A ninth inning muff in the first game of yesterday's Cleveland-Boston doubleheader cost the "smart money" about $10,000 . . . The Sox went into that frame on the long end of 10-1, and Cleveland had enough supporters among the "amateurs" to make that winning rally very, very expensive to the bookmakers.

Broadway

NEW YORK, May 31—I am receiving many interesting and informative letters from readers. Here are three especially good ones:

Isle of Manhattan, N. Y.

DEAR DOROTHY:

The other day you saw fit to mention a lot of places in your home town of New York, yet you never mentioned the Bowery, the boulevard of the wanderers of the earth. The street that's famous in song and story. The rendezvous that starts at City Hall and ends in the Hub of Boston. The first theatrical center of our vast continent, America, whose boards were trod and regaled by the arts of Bernhardt, Booth, Barrymore, Nugent, Rooney, Langtry and Bart Kennedy.

How sad of you to not even mention this famous point of interest in your thoughts of your home town. Ah, the skidroad (not skid row) from whence O. Henry was carted to Bellevue Hospital, there to die and cross the ties which lead to the heavenly abode, from which none of us will ever return to our childhood playground.

Can it be, Dorothy, that the street barely off McSorely's grand saloon and the home of the Cooper Union institute has become defiled to you? Why not a mention of it then?

Have you no romance left in you not to devote a stick or two of space to the freest spot in urbanity, to the abode of free spirits and the ghost of Poe? To the flophouses, the screaming El. Ah, the song of the Bowery, the Bowery,"I'll never go there anymore." The place whereon one can exit to Chinatown momentarily, find the oldest drugstore in America. Or take a last look at the debris which in days gone by was worshipped as the integral property of the old Minor's Theater.

DAN O'BRIEN
(The Hobo King).

New York City

DEAR MISS KILGALLEN:

A few nights ago I read an article in your column written by a Mr. Tooill of the Toledo Blade. Was he kidding when he said Mabel Taliaferro was a "Johnny-come-lately" because she didn't use the right expression in regard to stage sets in the theater? I hope he is kidding and if he isn't, I feel sorry for him. From my point of view, Mr. Tooill is the "Johnny-come-lately." He should go to the library and get a book called "Who's Who in the Theater" and then he won't make any more dumb cracks.

Sincerely,
EMILY BARRY LANCASTER.

* * *

New York City

DEAR DOROTHY:

Mabel Taliaferro was considerably flattered by the interest the Toledo Blade's Kenneth Tooill showed in the title of her forthcoming autobiography, "Fancy Door Center," but a mite changdined that he saw fit to call her down. Far from being a "Johnny-come-lately," Mabel was a star in vaudeville and repertory at the age of two, and toured not only America but the world. Of course the correct appellation is "Center Door Fancy" (the vaudeville set piece), but as an infant, Mabel confused it and "Fancy Door Center" became a Taliaferro family joke. (Her sister was a star also.)

In Mabel's book, as she should have explained, perhaps, the technical term will be defined. The title is in a way symbolic of her youthful confusion in one of the hey-hey days of the theater.

Sincerely,
GREER JOHNSON.

Top Summer Glamor Aids

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

GRANTED THERE IS one cosmetic every girl in the service of her country . . . the service of an office boss . . . or the rare gal who's just in the service of making herself beautiful . . . wouldn't do without. Lipstick, of course.

But, leaving lipstick out of the story for the time being . . . I want to tell you about a trio of trusties which . . . with one fell swoop . . . will take care of comfort, trimness and beauty all summer. Two of these beauty musketeers are for the face . . . one for the hair.

Let's start with the face. I offer you a "chemical parasol" . . . a combination of sunburn preventive and delightful cologne. Wonderful what a cosmetic genius can think up! When you have this chemical parasol on . . . you can just challenge the sun to turn you into a broiled lobster! No gooey stickiness about it. You look your own lovely self when you have it on . . . and YOU decide what shade of tan you want to toast yourself to. A little sun for warm beige . . . a lot more for luggage brown. But as long as you have on this chemical parasol . . . you avoid ugly redness and painful burn . . . and you'll be as fragrant as a costly blossom.

Of course, you don't spend the entire day in the sun. So what can you put on your face . . . equally soothing . . . and a magic beautifier as well . . . for those hours when you want to look most fascinating? So you use a creamy liquid that spreads on like a dream and makes your skin look dream-like, too. You would never suspect that it is antiseptic, medicated, so that girls who haven't dared to use ordinary foundation make-up . . . because of facial blemishes . . . can use it all they like and actually benefit by it.

IMPERFECTIONS HIDDEN

What a cover-up it is! Look for any little skin imperfections that you know perfectly well are there. Can't see them . . . can you? That's what this protective make-up film does for you . . . makes you a smoothie . . . and a lovely one. Not only that . . . it keeps your make-up set all day, or night, if you want it too. And, you can have it in the best summer shades.

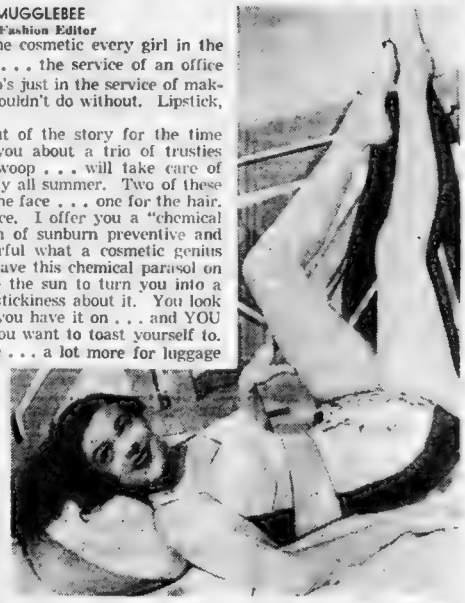
The third beauty musketeer is a summer blessing. Its job . . . to dry and set your hair in one-third the time you're accustomed to. Summer means swimming . . . swimming means more shampoos . . . more shampoos mean hair getting out of hand. Who wants to spend half the summer fussing with hair? This lotion is free from all the things you don't like. No old-fashioned glueyness . . . no flaky deposits on the hair and your clothes . . . no stiffness when dry. It sets a wave beautiful . . . and keeps it set . . . soft and silky.

For the names of any or all of these summer beauty aids, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Your Greeting

Greeting words are little words but they can be made a Big Moment if you say them pleasantly, back them up with a friendly smile, make them come alive.—MRS. BEECKMAN

EVEN THE sweet-girl graduate can be fashion-smart . . . for summer's bustle back trend has been interpreted for the young as well. This graduation dress of white eyelet batiste . . . by a New York designer . . . not only features the torso-touchup . . . but a basque bodice cut with a low neck . . . always flattering to young and slim lines. The lace half-mittens . . . and the left-shoulder corsage are simplicity accents . . . but all together the costume would place a sartorial stamp on any diploma-receiving gal.—R. M.



IF YOU plan to be a summer siren . . . there are three trusties and a lipstick as your reliables to lean on while King Sol beams down upon you. These F.F.B.A.'s . . . first family of beauty adjutants . . . are a chemical parasol . . . an antiseptic, medicated protective make-up film . . . and a quick-setting hair lotion . . . and then you can be "lazy bones sitting in the sun" . . . as charming a picture as Columbia Star Marguerite Chapman.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Wednesday — I listened to Secretary Stettinius' speech on Monday evening and read it the next day, and in addition I have read many of the editorials and comments upon it.

It was fitting, I think, for our Secretary of State, the head of our United States delegation, to report to this nation and to the men in the armed services during the fifth week of the conference. The objective for which we all live and fight today is ultimately to have a peaceful world. This conference is one of many early steps in the direction of world unity. It is the most important one so far, because without the organization which we hope it will establish no further steps could be taken.

I liked the way in which Secretary Stettinius gave the background for his speech. When we think that representatives of almost 50 nations are gathered in San Francisco, and stop to realize for a minute what our internal differences are when we try to agree on some specific policy, we get a better conception of the gigantic task of making all those nations agree on a charter and on the framework of an organization which will bring them together in the future and give them an opportunity to build for peace.

TWO THINGS stand out in my mind as I think of this report. I would like to speak of one point today.

Our Secretary of State did not shirk the unpleasant task of talking to us about Argentina and Poland, and that showed courage. Many of us—and I am among the many—wondered whether the decision reached in Mexico City to grant Argentina the opportunity to join in the conference, if she fulfilled certain conditions, was a wise one. We know that there are many people in Argentina who are neither Fascists nor in sympathy with the Fascists. But we also know that the policy of the government has been controlled by people who either were in sympathy with the Fascists or had made up their minds that it was to Argentina's economic and political advantage to continue close ties with the Fascist nations. Today, with Germany decisively defeated, it is quite evident that that was a bad guess.

The Correct Thing

BUYING THE RING! Nowadays the prospective bridegroom usually takes his fiancee with him when he goes to select the ring. (After all, she is the one who'll wear it.)

By BETTINA BEDWELL

YESTERDAY was Memorial Day, and this year a solemn and tragic day for millions of people I think it is a suitable time to remind all of you that it is obligatory to wear the correct kind of clothes when you attend a funeral.

I have been shocked to see, with my own eyes, and in pictures of women attending the funerals of famous people recently, that there are women who seem to have no sense of the respect they owe at such times.

Black clothes or at least dark, inconspicuous clothes are the only kind to wear at a funeral. And this means hats, gloves and shoes, too. It is unpardonably frivolous to attend one wearing light or gay colors, or go with a sleeveless dress.

Good Sub For Meat

By MARTHA LEE

MEAT SCARCITY necessitates our becoming better acquainted with other more plentiful protein foods. For we can't get along without proteins to build and repair our bodies and keep them in good condition. Proteins derived from animal sources are the most valuable, of course, and one of these is cottage cheese.

In addition to being an excellent protein, cottage cheese is a good source of calcium also and contains several of the B vitamins. It is delicately flavored, easily digested and furnishes a non-fat food which is valuable in the diet of everyone. During the late spring and summer months, when milk production is high, cottage cheese is most plentiful.

WAYS TO SERVE

Cottage cheese may be served plain, with salad dressing, with whole milk and sugar, or combined with fruit or vegetables. Being mild in flavor, it combines perfectly with berries, peaches or other fresh or canned fruits, with raisins, cut dates, jam, marmalade or chopped nuts. These dishes are easily prepared and especially appreciated for serving at warm weather meals.

COTTAGE CHEESE AND GREEN PEPPER SALAD

Remove pulp and seeds from a green pepper. Stuff pepper with cottage cheese, seasoned with salt and pepper. Chopped nuts and chopped red pepper or onion may be added to the cheese. Let stuffed pepper stand in a cool place for one hour, slice, and serve on lettuce leaves with salad dressing.

TOMATO FLOWERS WITH COTTAGE CHEESE STUFFING

Cut a firm tomato, starting from the stem end, into six or eight sections, leaving the bottom of the tomato intact. Spread tomato sections apart, and fill center with cottage cheese. Firm tomatoes that come out of the jar or can whole may be substituted for fresh ones by filling the center of the tomato with seasoned cottage cheese. Serve with your favorite salad dressing.

COMBINATION FRUIT AND COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

Cottage cheese with fresh or canned pears, pineapple or peaches makes a good salad. Chopped nuts are optional. Serve with crisp salad greens—lettuce, or water cress.

A substantial and appetizing sandwich filling may be made of cottage cheese and any of the following: chopped mixed relish, chili sauce, chopped dill pickle, green pepper, celery, parsley or onion and salad dressing. Chopped nuts and cottage cheese may be blended with peanut butter for filling. Serve on plain or toasted bread.

Here are other suggestions:

COTTAGE CHEESE PATTIES

2 cups cottage cheese
2 cups mashed potatoes
1 egg, beaten

White Sauce

½ cup milk 2 tbsp. flour
1 tbsp. fat Salt and pepper

Make white sauce. Gradually beat cottage cheese into ½ cup thick white sauce. Add mashed potatoes, season, make into soft balls, roll in bread crumbs, then in beaten egg, then in bread crumbs again. Fry in a little fat until a delicate brown. Delicious served with tomato sauce.

OLD DUTCH CHEESE "CAKE"

1 cup cottage cheese
2-3 cup sugar ½ cup milk
2 egg yolks, beaten
1 tbsp. melted fat
Salt 2 tbsp. cornstarch

Flavor with a little lemon juice and grated rind, with mace or nutmeg. Mix ingredients in the order given. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven or until brown. Makes a very firm custard.

Tracy-Hepburn Comedy Delights Loew's Patrons

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Without Love," the sensationally successful Broadway play Philip Barry customed-tailored to Katharine Hepburn's arresting personality, is now to be seen on Loew's twin screens in Metro's lush film version.

Miss Hepburn again plays the lady of the first part in this strange romance. Spencer Tracy has succeeded Elliott Nugent as the allergic-to-love scientist.

If they were reading the Congressional Record at each other it is conceivable that these two would be box office. In this conspicuously contrived screen piece, which would have you believe that two thoroughly attractive young and healthy people are as through with love as yesterday's newspaper . . . you never are convinced for an instant . . . they are consistently witty and wittily inconsistent and boxoffice no end.

Mr. Tracy is caustic in an irresistible way and Miss Hepburn plays her no-but-I-mean-yes role with a great deal of charm and the requisite soupcon of mischief. Wynn, whom you may fail to spot at once behind those glasses and in those cups, is terrific as a typical Barry souse. Miss Ball, in the role Audrey Christie created, puts her own brassy, breezy stamp on the character. And MGM wraps it all up with expensive settings, ties it with a tantalizing Bronislau Kaper score and waits for the grosses to roll in.

OLD SOUTH FEATURES

Old South Theater is presently showing "Alice Adams," the Katharine Hepburn-Fred MacMurray starring film adaptation of the Booth Tarkington classic . . . The companion feature is "Fall In," starring Joe Sawyer and William Tracy.

SAFESET HOLIDAY IN YEARS

The nation's observance of Memorial Day was the safest in many years yesterday, with only 54 accidental deaths as compared with 327 last year when the observance lasted four days, the Associated Press reports.

Joan Fontaine In Gay Met Film

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

"The Affairs of Susan," now at the Met, turned out to be a very pleasant way to spend a quiet holiday evening. It is light and bright, skillfully directed and well acted, which is all anyone can ask of a screen comedy.

Joan Fontaine being an Academy Award winner, it was only to be expected that she would give a good performance. Nevertheless, this reporter was a bit surprised to find that she has such versatility and such a flair for comedy.

George Brent is excellent as a smart young producer who meets Joan on an island where he had gone to rest from the headaches of Broadway. Walter Abel, Don de Fiore and Dennis O'Keefe are fine as the three other men in her life.

BETTY GRABLE is one of the reasons for "Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe" film being held a second week at the Keith Memorial.

Systematize Garden Jobs

By FOSTER WEISS

(Head Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School and Director of the Boston Record-American-Advertiser Garden on Boston Common.

A good garden usually presents a number of jobs requiring attention which should be done in the order of importance. Take a few minutes before you leave the garden and list these jobs and the tools or equipment needed.

Many gardeners find they are having considerable trouble with ants.

on light sandy soil.

The best control is to locate the tunnels and inject carbon bisulfide into the openings. Then fill in the openings and pack the soil to confine the fumes. You may have to do this several times to get results. Handle this material carefully as it is very inflammable. Ant baits and powders may give temporary relief if the above treatment is not possible. Carbon bisulfide can be purchased at your local drug store.

Make every effort to control ants as they not only injure crops by loosening the soil, but aid in the spread of aphids which in turn carry disease from one plant to another.

Cabbage that is badly infested with the root maggot will not come back. If you have lost some of your plants, wait about a week or 10 days and set out more plants. This will give you a more continuous supply of cabbage. Even if you have not lost your early plants it will be well to set another dozen plants now for late succession cabbage. [illegible] varieties have only early, and late cabbage with none during midsummer for salads.

Congress Calls for New Court-Martial Shuffle

By AUSTEN LAKE

Austen Lake

I IMAGINE MOST AMERICANS will applaud Congressman Barry's resolution to study Army and Navy court-martial records to determine how many other "excessive punishments" have been handed out as result of revelations in Pvt. Joe McGee's case. No doubt there are more.

But let no American diminish the fact that our forces have done a magnificent, overall job of fair-minded, impartial moulding of American youth into as tough, conscientious a fighting unit as the world has seen. Let's not regard these isolated examples as a condemnation of the Army decent-dealing or harmony between the overwhelming majority of officers and men.

I hail re-examination of court-martial records and ask restoration and rehonoring of soldier victims of any brass-hattery. But I want to testify, from personal observation, that it was rare exception when combat officers did not live on the same hardship levels and at spiritual par with their soldiers, whom they regarded with brotherly, if not paternal affection. For the bulk of these officers rose from the ranks—tough disciplinarians, ruthless commanders, but with a curious soft strain of humanitarianism for THEIR OWN.

Rear Areas Were Different!

SURE SOME OF OUR COMBAT SOLDIERS socked SS prisoners on occasion, and even worse! Sure some got plastered occasionally on captured vintages! Sure a few raised rowdy ructions during intervals of rest! But the officers—and I have in mind such outfits as our 4th Armored and the 26th Infantry among the many—were tactfully sympathetic. They had the situation well in hand! They let their non-coms—bony, competent, hard-knuckled set of hombres, handle such dereliction. And they handled them WELL! No courts-martial! No theory! It took something pretty bad to attract the officers UP THERE! But let no man say they didn't have a rugged, fighting outfit which gouged the Krauts out of their crannies, pillbox-bunkers and towns. These men were realists!

The rear areas of the SOS and the training zones were something different. There the Army was full of fussy furbelows and old-maid quirks—some of which undoubtedly were carried to excess. There were times when it seemed a silly waste of man-energies BUT WAS IT? There were good reasons for this seeming ritualistic, muscle-sapping "hokum"—not merely to polish the already slick-perfection of these post grads of combat and camps. But to keep them mentally and physically occupied to the last ounce and inch of their beings 10 hours a day and bring 'em back weary. There it was double-drill rigid discipline and spit-'n'-polish.

Sounds silly to call this "morale building." But it amounts to just that! It's the Army's system of stiffening spiritual droop. "If a soldier is tired enough," as one officer put it, "his morale will take care of itself. He's hungry, so he eats—even if he doesn't choose the food. He's tired, so he sleeps—even if he'd like to brood on his troubles, of which, God knows, we've all got plenty."

A brutal system? Of course it is! But it's a brutal war and needs brutal methods to whip the world's most brutal enemy.

So it is inevitable that, mixed with the solid sterling core of officers and men the Army and the Navy and the Marines and the Coast Guard would have a thin scattering of lard-heads, emotional incompetents and pompous nincompoops who leaked into crucial administrative positions. It's inevitable too, in the mad maelstrom of co-ordinating 10,000,000 ex-civilians that a share of these suet-heads should commit blunders in judgment and justice—like the case of Pvt. McGee.

So let's have Congress exact an accounting of court-martial records and screen out whatever American soldiers or sailors of good previous character who are penalized for such artificial Articles of War as socking or disciplining mutinous enemies, or for whatever other MINOR infractions.

Washington Launched Paris' Blackmarket

WHEN WE SEE A CONVICTED SPY like Laurent Brackx, former merchant marine captain, sentenced to only nine years for selling Navy radar secrets to the Axis, and see certain of the lesser black sheep soldiers get 15 to 20 years for selling a few cartons of cigarets to Paris' Marche Noir, it offends our notion of UNIFORM justice.

Sure, the Black Marketeers deserve disciplinary punishment. Some of them deserve and got "the book." No American wants to defend a criminal who gets his just deserts. But the occasional kid who trafficked in a few cartons, or some few articles of GI equipment on a petty scale and got a stretch of years—that doesn't fit! I'll try to tell you why!

Most of Paris's petty black market traffic traced to the dumb stupidity of our Washington brain trusters who over-valued the French-franc exchange at 50-to-the-dollar instead of the actual spending value of 300-to-the-buck. And what happened? Being smart, self-reliant bozos, quick to improvise, our boys promptly found they could get 150 to 200 francs per pack of U. S. cigarets from the tobacco hungry, paper-money glutted French. Or a pair of GI shoes brought 2 to 3 thousand francs. A can of GI coffee or sugar or tobacco had proportionate scales of prices. It didn't seem like SIN in the beginning—not until some of our more enterprising racket-minded graduates of larceny made it big-scale business.

So many a decent dogface, before going on leave, scrouged around and picked up some GI collateral. What could be simpler? The dogface's invasion francs had no great spending power. The French had plenty of German-printed flimsy francs! And the government had lots of loose merchandise! So, chums, let's get together! And they did!

So there is the story of the round robin gyp in which Washington's finance experts first gypped, and still do, the U. S. doughfoot, who in turn gypped the economists right back. And as the first offender, don't you think the onus for the deal goes back to our dumb financial experts! I don't know what the army's court-martial tally sheets show on that, but I'll wager they bagged a few, if not a lot, of early, small time cigaret salesmen who got an "excessive" term of years for not knowing any better. Such stuff as that!

Metko Homers for Hose

By HUCK FINNEGAN

FENWAY PARK, May 31—Cleveland manager Lou Boudreau was confined to the dugout today as Dave Ferriss attempted to pitch his seventh straight victory in a Red Sox uniform. Boudreau's trouble was described as "ulcers of the eye," and rookie Eddie Wheeler took his place at shortstop in the Cleveland lineup.

"I think I contracted it on the train," said Boudreau, his left eye inflamed. Penicillin was applied, and Boudreau had hopes of playing until 10 minutes before game time.

Pete Fox, hit in the arm by a pitched ball yesterday, found it so sore today he had to sit out the game. Johnny Lazor took over for him in right field for the Sox.

FOURTH INNING

INDIANS—Mackiewicz singled. O'Dea sacrificed, Tobin to Steiner. Hayes singled, scoring Mackiewicz. Seerey struck out. Lake threw out Ross. ONE RUN.

* * *

If Joe Cronin had pitched Dave Ferriss in the Red Sox-Cleveland Memorial Day doubleheader he'd have been a sulphuric target for exploiting the freshman phenom to enhance the gate. (Well advertised in advance was the fact Ferrisswou ldn't pitch). As it was the 19,626 holiday fans at Fenway Park keep yelling: "We want Ferriss" while Ben Steiner muffed the first game (Cleveland 4, Sox 3), and batted the Sox to victory in the second, 7 to 6.

Evidently, you can't please everybody—evn if you pass cigarets. Ferris did appear as a pinch-hitter (by public acclaim) in both games. In the first he drew an unproductive walk and in the second he hit an unproductive single. The fans wanted to see more of the 23-year-old air corps veteran who has won 6 games, lost 0, and is batting a torrid .435.

Listen to their comment:

"Only chance I get to see a ball game is holidays and Sundays. I want to see the best, and that means Ferriss. I understand he threw only 84 pitches Sunday. That wasn't much of a test. Why couldn't he have worked today?"

TWO DOWN, ONE'S OUT—Tigers second baseman Mayo gamely manages to hang onto ball after being hit with football block by Yankee Grimes on forceout at second. Tigers and Yanks split holiday bill.

"Cleveland used Feller exclusively on Sundays when they weren't going anywhere. They never pitched him week-days until they had a chance for the pennant. (Seconded by Cleveland writers.) Where are the Sox going?"

"The guy is ambidextrous, isn't he? If Cronin is afraid of risking him, as he calls it, why does he let him run bases. Suppose he broke a leg sliding into second! Cronin would have more to answer for than if he pitched him out of turn."

And one particularly irate customer:

"I'd rather have seen Ferriss pitching left-handed than Judd," (a southpaw who almost blew the nightcap).

So it went.

But the Sox don't want to use Ferriss out of turn, gate or no gate. Guess the only way fans can get him when they want him is by shipping a deluge of mail to 24 Jersey st., Sox headquarters.

Elmer Riddle Set For Reds' Comeback

CINCINNATI, May 31 (AP)—Elmer Riddle, leading pitcher of the National League in 1943 but sidetracked by a lame throwing arm since last May, today informed Warren Giles of the Reds that his arm is "in shape." He will report to the team June 8 in Chicago.

Nieman's Collapse Handicaps Braves

By BILL GRIMES

ST. LOUIS, May 31—Mgr. Bob Coleman has started to crack the whip on some of the Braves, who are laboring under the impression that they are not "expendable."

"Butch" Nieman, who startled the baseball world shortly after the opening of the season, with his timely and terrific slugging, is the first to learn that he is "expendable."

On this trip, Nieman has been atrocious. He hasn't come through with a hit in seventeen times at bat. After the first game with the Giants in New York, on May 6, he was hitting for a cool .426. During the past three weeks, his batting average has dropped to .259, a loss of 169 points, due to the fact that he has made only ten hits (three of them in one game) in his last 69 times to the plate.

Nieman was benched in Pittsburgh for one game in which Bill Ramsey played left field. Yesterday, "Butch" sat out the second game against the Cardinals and "Chuck" Workman got back into the lineup and cracked out three hits.

On top of his failure at the bat, Nieman has made six errors on this trip. He acts jittery. He has dropped fly balls and allowed ground balls to trickle through him and roll to fences. And, equally as disastrous to the Boston cause, he has thrown to the wrong base on many occasions one of which cost the Braves the second game in Pittsburgh.

With the Colemans two runs out in front in the 10th, two down and Gustine on first base, "Spud" Davis, the 40-year-old catcher who must be the slowest man in the league, hit a ball into Nieman's territory and was credited with a double, when Butch threw to third to head off a run that wouldn't have had any bearing on the outcome of the game.

When Nieman gathered in Davis' drive, Eddie Joost was on second base yelling for the ball, for Davis wasn't half way down to the keystone bag. But "Butch" tried to get Gustine, and then Lee Handley scored both runners with another cheap double to left and the Pirates went on to win in the next inning on Johnny Barrett's home run.

BILL RAMSEY FILLS IN

So, "Butch" Nieman is out of the lineup until such a time as Coleman is convinced that he has recovered his form. "Chuck" Workman will play left field when the Braves face right hand pitchers and Ramsey will get a chance to show what he can do against left handers. Ramsey got two hits off "Preacher" Roe in Pittsburgh.

Mike Ulisney has made a fine impression on this trip. And, he is going to get more opportunities to catch and pinch hit. He's hitting .438 and has been delivering when the chips were down.

Al Javery, who hasn't started a game since May 12 when the Cubs combed him for 11 hits and scored six runs in 4 2-3 innings at Braves Field, will hurl the final game of this series tonight.

About ten days ago, Javery had nine teeth extracted and didn't rejoin the club until last Friday. He has warmed up a few times and reported that his arm felt all right. If he is right, Javery shouldn't have much trouble beating the Cardinals, providing the Braves can do business with Left Harry Brecheen, whom Billy Southworth announced would pitch for the champions.

Jim Tobin did a nice job scattering eleven Cardinal hits yesterday. Thanks to two big innings the Braves came through with a 9 to 2 victory, which broke his five game losing streak and gave him his third win of the season.

The Braves go to Chicago after tonight's game and Mort Cooper will hurl the opening game against the Cubs tomorrow afternoon.

Ferriss, Cooper Give Boston Baseball Lift

By JACK CONWAY

BASEBALL HAS found that a good ball club does more than anything else to offset race track competition. Baseball still has a firm grip on millions of people, and if the Red Sox, Braves and other major league clubs place first class clubs in the field they will not have to give too much concern over the fact a race track is in operation nearby.

Boston fans began displaying keen interest in the Sox as soon as Dave Ferriss started his winning streak. There are thousands of fans who have not attended games in recent years who are eager to see Ferriss in action. When the Sox sensation won his first two games, there was talk that the batters would soon solve his delivery. Ferriss has run his list of triumphs to six and he has convinced even the Doubting Thomases that he is a class pitcher.

Dave Ferriss

The acquisition of Mort Cooper by the Braves was another boost for Boston baseball. Anytime owners of a ball club part with $100,000 to get needed strength, it is positive proof they are out to get a winner. For years the Braves were without needed baseball strength, while the owners refused to pay out large sums of money for acknowledged stars like Cooper. The result was the club did not get anywhere.

The day John Quinn took over the job of general manager of the Braves, his 75-year-old dad, Bob Quinn, told newsmen that for the first time since he came to Boston he was associated with a group of men who would pay what money was necessary to secure needed playing power. The Cooper deal is only the first of many which will be consummated as the Braves move forward in the National League pennant race.

Johnson's Hard Hitting

BOB JOHNSON'S hitting, as Dave Ferriss pointed out, has been a powerful factor in the Sox winning games. Johnson's bat has been particularly effective when Ferriss has been doing the hurling for the Sox. Dave was usually on base when Bob came through with one of his smashing hits.

Johnson has also fielded his position well. He has pulled down many a hard drive which was headed for the left field wall.

I feel that baseball has hit the bottom in the matter of playing strength and that from here on the various clubs will gain additional power. The Army is releasing thousands of men each month, and some of these former service men will find their way into big league baseball as Dave Ferriss did.

The clubs that have players in the Army will have a better chance of getting them back soon than will be the case of outfits whose stars are in the Navy. The Navy will not release men, other than those found physically unfit, until after Japan has been defeated.

This means that Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio and Johnny Pesky of the Red Sox will not return to baseball until some time in 1946 at the earliest. It may even be 1947 before these former Sox heroes are back in action at Fenway Park.

The big pressure, however, is off baseball. The national pastime will be permitted to function without undue interference.

The large attendances at Sunday and holiday games certainly proves that the public is very much for big league baseball.

Random Shots at Target

JACK KENNEY, circulation director of Hearst newspapers, has witnessed the Sox play during the past two days from his old seat in the press box at Fenway Park . . . in recent years Jack has made his headquarters in New York, but for many years he was located in Boston where he has many friends.

Allan Wilson, president of Suffolk Downs, and Eddie Goode, treasurer, tell me they have everything in readiness for the opening of the East Boston track a week from Monday . . . with racing having its greatest boom, Suffolk Downs should have a top meeting . . . Wilson says Racing Secretary Charley McLennan assures him that 1200 horses will be at the track by opening day.
